Track Access Kiosk

Track Access Kiosk the continued success of the touch screen kiosk is due to the new, easy access shell design which has led to a number of TOC's installing kiosks in driver mess rooms across the U.K and Ireland. FCC, Iarnród Éireann, Southern Railways and Chiltern Railways are operators who have taken advantage of the kiosk environment which gives peace of mind that the system is secure and provides users with the ability to access route learning material without the need to gain access to a locked or supervised area. In addition to offering route learning material, the touch screen technology allows potential access to a range of training videos, DVD's, PowerPoint presentations and other safety and training material, either by local or intranet connection.
