WebInteractiveMap

Interactive mapping applications are one of the emerging benefits of web deployment for route information systems. The interactive map system allows the user to highlight routes using a route selector panel, once the desired route is found, a simple click will play the video of the chosen route. The system can use almost all types of existing map to accomplish this attractive and new way to visually map difficult areas.

FEATURES

- All types of existing map can be used
- Link to online web routes
- User selector panel for easy access
- Connection to all movie media formats
- An easy way to display complex areas
- Adobe Flash installation is required
- Information panel to support selection

E learning for the future
